

Ana Gomes: Why Won't She Leave Ethiopia Alone?

Engineer Ghirma
June 14, 2007

If Ana Gomes (a.k.a. ሃና ጎበይ by her Vocal CUD/DERG fans) had her way, Ethiopia would have regressed to the DERG days by now. That she still persists, directly and indirectly, in her quest to overthrow the democratically elected government of Ethiopia, by colluding with the well orchestrated effort by DERG and their Clones, is historic indeed.

Ana Gomes is back in the headlines of the world press, the BBC among them, expressing her cockeyed opinion on the June 11, 2007 ruling by Ethiopia's Supreme Court regarding Eng. Hailu Shawel & Company. The fact that those criminals decided not to defend themselves is glaring proof that they were guilty as hell. Proof of their obvious guilt to perpetrate unimaginable harm to Ethiopians of all walks of life was brought against them; videos and all. All they had to say to the Court in their own defense was the equivalent to: "No Comment". Obviously, they were so overwhelmed by the mountain of evidence that was brought to bear against them, that they were rendered speechless!

I have to believe that Eng. Hailu Shawel and his coconspirators were counting all along, on Ana Gomes and the Vocal Diaspora CUD/DERG Clones to get them off the hook. However, in my opinion, the only thing that might save them from the gallows is to apologize to the Ethiopian people for their crimes in attempting to ascend to power through anarchy. They should beg for mercy from the Ethiopian people. Ethiopians are by nature a forgiving people; however, most of us have not forgotten, nor forgiven, the outcome of the last coup d'état which had led to genocide by DERG (http://www.ethioobserver.net/no_derq.htm).

It is a mystery to many of us that Eng. Hailu and many of his fellow defendants were not tried with the initial Colonel Mengistu's group in the first place. Like many Ethiopians who had experienced persecution under DERG, I personally know that justice in this case has been served; and I am hoping that these people do not get punished with just a slap on the wrist.

As for Ana Gomes, she should spend more time on her duties as EU Member of Parliament; and less time as a lobbyist for Ethiopia's enemies. Frankly, I think she is a disgrace and an embarrassment to the European Union. The time has come for Ana Gomes to leave Ethiopians alone; and refrain from interfering in Ethiopia's internal affairs.